

Meet Salem's Bio

Salem Pederson is a St. Paul-based financial and administrative professional with QuickBooks ProAdvisor certifications and a personal commitment to supporting healthcare organizations. After supporting her husband through pancreatic cancer treatment, Salem gained a deep appreciation for the compassion, coordination, and behind-the-scenes work required to support patients and their families. This experience reinforced the importance of accuracy, reliability, and service in every aspect of healthcare operations.

Professionally, Salem has experience supporting accounting, invoicing, payroll administration, and client service functions through roles in benefits administration and business operations. As a Certified QuickBooks ProAdvisor, Salem has completed specialized training in QuickBooks Online and bookkeeping best practices and is passionate about helping organizations maintain accurate financial records and efficient administrative processes. Known for strong attention to detail and organization, Salem enjoys bringing structure and clarity to financial and operational workflows.

Salem holds a Bachelor of Arts in Spanish and studied abroad in Seville, Spain. While not fully fluent, she has a strong academic foundation in Spanish language and culture and values clear communication and exceptional service. Salem is excited to bring a combination of financial aptitude, administrative experience, and genuine compassion to an oncology-focused organization.
